FOREWORD

All members are urgently requested to review this list of members making certain that their names are correctly listed. The home address is listed only when used for mail; otherwise, mail goes to the business address. If anyone wishes his home address to be listed in the future, please advise the Secretary, All addresses should be kept up to date. In this alphabetical list the grade of member is given in code immediately after the name together with the year of membership.

CODE OF MEMBERSHIP

M—Member	AM—Associate
A—Affiliate	S—Student

The geographical list is based only on mailing addresses whether it be home or office. This list is not only helpful for members to locate each other, but also of particular value in determining the need for sections of the society. With this listing it is a simple matter for a local group to decide among themselves if they are interested in forming a section.

This list of members by companies includes all organizations as universities, government agencies, and business organizations throughout the world. This list of members by companies is not as complete as that issued by other societies, as their roster by companies is generally issued as a separate pamphlet. In this case all rosters are within the same cover, giving the complete information under the alphabetical list.

The list of members by disciplines is simply for the purpose of placing each member in the respective group he prefers. Note in the alphabetical list three disciplines are given for each member in the order of their importance.

KEY TO DISCIPLINES

A—Mathematics	M—Metallurgy
C—Chemistry	P—Physics
E—Engineering	X—Other as specified
L—Life Sciences, including Medicine

We find that X is used mostly for attorneys, presidents, etc., who may be in the Management category and have never obtained a technical degree of any kind. If a member does have a degree, he should be listed in a discipline other than X except for unusual reasons.

Any member not listed properly should notify the Secretary of the correct listing for the next roster. It is very important that the members take time to keep the Secretary informed of all address and other necessary changes.

R. Tom Sawyer
Chairman, Membership Committee

AMERICAN NUCLEAR SOCIETY

GENERAL INFORMATION

Objectives and Scope:

The American Nuclear Society Incorporated, an organization of individual scientists and engineers, was founded by a group of men active in nuclear science and technology, who had perceived the coming need for an organization to unify the professional activities within their diverse fields. The Society was founded at a meeting in New York City on 17 January 1955, as a non-profit organization under the Membership Corporations Law of the State of New York.

The main objectives of the Society are the advancement of science and engineering relating to the atomic nucleus, and of allied sciences and arts, and the integration of the several disciplines constituting nuclear science and technology. Other purposes named in the Certificate of Incorporation include: the encouragement of research, the establishment of scholarships, the dissemination of information, the holding of meetings devoted to scientific and technical papers, and cooperation with Government agencies, educational institutions and other organizations having similar purposes.

The Society is governed by a Board of Directors, elected by the membership, consisting of a President, two surviving Presidents most recently retired, a Vice President, a Treasurer, an Editor, and twenty-four Directors elected-at-large. The terms of office are as follows: President, Vice President and Treasurer, one year; Editor, two years; Directors elected-at-large, three years. The Board of Directors is in principle so constituted as to give appropriate representation to the several disciplines composing nuclear science and technology, including physics, chemistry, mathematics, life sciences, engineering and metallurgy.

As Officers and Directors, only Fellows or Members are eligible. The Executive Secretary of the Society is appointed by the Board of Directors as a Corporate Officer, to continue in service until his successor is appointed.

Membership, Grades, Transfers

The membership of the Society consists of Fellows, Members, Overseas Members, Associate Members, Affiliates and Student Members.

Fellows are chosen from among those who have rendered acknowledged eminent service to nuclear science and technology or to allied sciences and arts, through research, technologic development, teaching or leadership.

Membership is open to residents and citizens of all nations on an equal basis. The material contained in papers and discussions given at meetings, or appearing in Society publications, is of character not subject to government security restrictions of the United States.

Applications for admission or for transfer of grade must be made on forms prescribed by the Board of Directors of the Society.

An applicant for admission should read carefully the requirements for the several grades. These may be found in the Bylaws and Rules, also on the reverse of the application blank, and in condensed form in the membership chart on page 52.

MEMBERSHIP—ELIGIBILITY, DUES, ETC.

Grade	Min. Age	(2) Professional Activity, Years	Additional Details in Bylaws	(3), (4) References Required	(5) Entrance Fee	Journal Subscription	(5), (6) Annual Dues

Notes:

(1) Affiliates and Student Members are non-voting.

(2) For Members and Associate Members, years of experience are "equivalent attainments" in lieu of academic degrees in disciplines composing nuclear science and technology.

(3) For References required on application form, Fellows are to be replaced by Members until a substantial number of Fellows is established within the Society.

(4) Special provision is made for applicants not known to the required number of references; see Bylaws, Sec. R3.43.

(5) Entrance fees and dues are payable on notice of election, and thereafter annually in advance on January 1st, the beginning of the fiscal year.

(6) Dues for a candidate elected after a quarterly period has expired, will be pro-rated on a quarterly basis for the remainder of his initial year.

(7) Subscription to Nuclear Science and Engineering is non-mandatory for Student Members.

The grade having been determined from the eligibility requirements, the application form should be filled out, taking care to give the requisite number of Society references of proper grades. These should be selected on the basis of their knowledge of the applicant's professional experience and reputation, rather than their standing.

Applications should be mailed to: Dr. W. W. Grigorieff, Executive Secretary, American Nuclear Society, P. O. Box 963, Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

Present Members

All branches of nuclear science and technology are represented in the membership, which includes persons engaged in fundamental and applied research, teaching, consultation, administration, engineering in its many branches, who hold academic degrees or have equivalent attainments and are on the staffs of governmental agencies and their contractors, educational and research institutions, industrial concerns, and other persons interested in the advancement of nuclear science and technology.

Meetings

The Annual Meeting of the Society is held during June of each year, at a location determined by the Board of Directors in different sections of the country to accommodate the wide territorial membership. The newly elected officers and directors begin their terms of office at this meeting, and the annual reports of officers and committees are submitted.

Several other meetings are held each year, at times and places scheduled by the Board of Directors. These may be conducted in cooperation with other organizations having aims consistent with those of the Society.

Publications

The official bimonthly journal of the Society is "Nuclear Science and Engineering," published by Academic Press Inc., 125 East 23rd Street, New York. It contains papers presented at Society meetings, contributed articles on subjects of general interest to members, and news concerning activities of the Society.

Subscription rates are $5 per year for members in U. S. A. and abroad, billed concurrently with the statement for annual dues. Non-member subscription rate is $10 per year.

Committees

As is customary with scientific and engineering organizations, much of the important work of the Society is accomplished through committees. Standing general committees authorized under the Bylaws are listed in Article B10 of the Bylaws, and the personnel for the year 1955-56 is shown in the front of the Membership list.

Special committees may be established from time to time by the President subject to authorization of the Board of Directors, for purposes of advancing the objectives of the Society. Such committees cooperate with other national and international bodies, and may designate individual members to serve as Society representatives with such cooperating organizations.

Local Sections

For the purpose of carrying out the aims of the Society, and for the convenience of the members, the framework of the Society makes provision for the establishment of Sections. It is contemplated that these will be formed at centers of activity in nuclear science and technology. Procedures are defined, whereby fifty or more Fellows and Members may, by submitting a petition and conforming to certain requirements, inaugurate a new Section.

These Sections, because of their local organization, which is similar to that of the parent body, are designed to be mutually helpful. Moreover, the operation of a section makes provision for cooperation at the local level with scientific and professional groups having similar objectives.

Student Membership and Branches

Students enrolled in schools of recognized standing that offer a curriculum and confer academic degrees in science or technology, and pursuing a regular course of study as undergraduates or graduates, are eligible as Student Members of the Society. Such membership is predicated, however, on the organization and continuing operation of a Student Branch at the institution. Annual dues are $3 payable to the Society, and the non-mandatory subscription to the journal Nuclear Science and Engineering is $5 per year for Student Members.

Student Branches are local organizations of students established under the sponsorship of a faculty member or other individual who is a Fellow or Member of the Society, residing in or near the community in which the Branch is located. Each Branch is obligated to frame a Constitution and prepare a set of regulations, conforming to the rules that govern student activities at the institution, and subject to approval by the Honorary Chairman.

Meetings of a Student Branch are held monthly or at other intervals designated by its Governing Committee. The papers read and discussed may be either original papers or papers previously presented at one of the regular meetings of the Society.

It is intended that membership and participation in a Student Branch should give opportunities for fairly independent activity and initiative on the part of students. They should also assist in cultivating many of the professional qualities needed by scientists and engineers, which are not fully developed by the classroom and laboratory. In addition, the Branch should provide an effective medium for social, literary and cultural activities.

Further information on Student Branch organization and procedure is in the suggested "model forms" for Constitution and for Regulations, obtainable upon request sent to the Executive Secretary of the Society.
